

Evening Meeting

RCPE: Leadership in Healthcare

Tuesday 12 November 2024 | 6.30 – 8.00pm

This event is free for Fellows and Members of the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh to watch live or on catch-up. The aim of this evening event is to provide insights in how to approach leadership roles in modern medicine as well as the delivery of effective leadership within the healthcare environment.

Learning points from the event include:

- Mechanisms by which a leadership style can be adapted for different circumstances: mechanisms, techniques and approaches that will allow your leadership style to resonate with your teams and evolve to meet the ever-changing needs of your teams and the broader healthcare system.
- How to deliver a successful change management project: how to deliver successful projects, embody a culture comfortable with change and implementations to support the project team and those affected by change.
- How to understand your team members and their needs to enable effective leadership: methods to understand your team members better and how to apply this to everyday professional life.

All grades of medical, nursing, scientific staff, allied health professionals and medical students are most welcome.

This event is suitable in particular for all consultants, senior trainees and specialist doctors and associate specialists.

This event is organised by the Recently Appointed Consultants' Committee.
